Digestive Health™

Over 60% of performance horses and foals have gastric health issues, especially in very active horses, horses with limited access to grazing and under stress, including training related stress.

KAUFFMAN'S® Digestive Health™ supplement is formulated to provide key nutrients and all-natural ingredients to provide the added support horses susceptible to gastric challenges, including high performers, need to compete every day.

Digestive Health is a scientifically designed blend of yeast products, beneficial bacteria, Fermaid Ease® 187, Saccharomyces cerevisiae yeast, amino acids and fenugreek

KAUFFMAN'S Digestive Health supplement delivers key ingredients and nutrients designed to aid in the digestion of feed, support optimal digestive health and promote gastric health in horses of all ages. Available in pellet form and in a convenient, easy to use paste for individual administration.

In addition to helping overall digestion and gut health, the following ingredients provide added support equine athletes need to perform their best when challenged by poor gastric health.

- Fermaid Ease 187 is a non-GMO micronized soy fermented by Lactobacillus delbrueckii, Rosell-187 that helps maintain a healthy digestive tract, promotes a healthy level of gastric acid in the stomach and aids in maintaining a healthy, epithelial lining of the stomach
- Amino acids threonine and glutamine provide added support for healthy mucous production necessary for optimal gastric health and to fuel proper cell growth
- Saccharomyces cerevisiae yeast provides benefit by helping proper digestion of feed and fiber needed for healthy digestive function
- Micro-encapsulated beneficial bacteria are added to enhance the balance and population of intestinal flora important for maintaining gastric health and function

Add KAUFFMAN'S Digestive Health to your equine athlete's feed to provide the gastric support they need during and after gastric health issues to keep them at the top of their game.
